New Clues Point To Murder In Death of Watchman

FINGERPRINTS BEING STUDIED

Constable Discusses Accident Idea

THEORIES ADVANCED

Believe Man Beaten To Death With Hammer

New and additional clues uncovered in the course of the investigation concerning the death of Thomas Furlow, watchman at the Texas Company found dead Sunday night, point more strongly to the murder theory. Constable H. F. Baker said today. Baker, with Joe Wyndell, finger print man from police headquarters, has been conducting the investigation.

The body of the watchman was found sprawled out in the elevator pit in the barrel house located on the waterfront late Sunday night, a search having been instigated by fellow workmen for the dead man.

Clock Punched Once

The watchman's clock carried by Furlow was found near his dead body, the last "punch" showed No. 1 shortly after 7 o'clock. No. 1 key is on the wharves outside the barrel house.

Key No. 2 had never been punched. Several theories confront the investigators in the course of their inquiry this far. Finger print impressions secured from what appeared to have been bloody finger smears were being developed today by Wyndell in his laboratory at the city hall.

Because of the short distance between the main floor and the basement, or bottom of the elevator shaft, the theory that the watchman fell to his death has been discarded by the officers working on the case.

Carried Into Pit

That it was physically impossible to fall such a short distance and sustain the several major injuries showing on the body of the dead man was the opinion voiced today by both Baker and Wyndell.

The bruises and lacerations on the aged watchman's head were found on the side of the face turned up when his body was found.

Another theory is held that Furlow was attacked, beaten to death, then carried into the pit.

'Fall Was Bought Like a Steer' Is Boast of Hamon

Good Samaritan Act Costs This Pastor His Coat and Pants

CHICAGO, April 15.—It came to pass that the Rev. Thompson was much embarrassed for his act of the good Samaritan and his top coat and pants as a result.

It was the day before the Sabbath, the parson told Judge Barava, that Andrew Green and Robert Ames approached him and with moans and other signs of distress begged him for alms. He took them to his house and gave them food and spiritual comfort.

Well pleased, the Rev. Thompson retired, slept the sleep of an untroubled soul, and awoke to prepare for his sermon before the services, but to his coat and pants were gone. And so were the men.

Worth Half Million

Appointment of Albert B. Fall as secretary of the interior was worth $500,000 to him, the late Jake Hamon told him. Ballard testified.

"It was to be paid $150,000 down and the balance over a period of four years," Ballard said.

"Who was to furnish the money?" Ballard was asked.

"The man who got Teapot Dome, Harry Sinclair—I suppose," Ballard replied.

Tells of Investigation

Ballard told of an investigation he made in 1920 of reports that Teapot Dome would be leased.

Ballard said he had been informed he should go to see Jake Hamon about it.

"I went to Ardmore, Okla., to see Hamon in May 1920," Ballard said.

"I had a private conversation and of course he is not here to defend himself and I hesitate to state that conversation. You realize that no matter what one may say under the circumstances he will be called a liar and scoundrel."

NAVAL OFFICER KILLS ANOTHER

Shooting Occurs in Mess Hall Before Scores

CHICAGO, April 15.—A board of inquiry at the Great Lakes Naval Training station today questioned witnesses to the murder last night of Daniel B. Wentworth, chief petty officer, by F. W. Helmer, another chief petty officer. In a mess hall in the presence of scores of officers, Helmer fired six shots pointblank at Wentworth.

The bullets pierced Wentworth's heart and he fell dead at Helmer's feet.

A quarrel over Wentworth's attentions to Mrs. Helmer caused the tragedy, it was stated.

Captain Waldo Evans, commandant of the station, ordered a wall of secrecy around the affair and officially there was no information forthcoming except that the killing had occurred.

Witness Tells Probers of Alleged Deal For Secretary of Interior at 1920 Convention

Special to The News

WASHINGTON, April 15.—Former Secretary of the Interior Fall "was bought like a steer and thrown into office" to lease Teapot Dome to Harry F. Sinclair, the late Jake Hamon told H. W. Ballard, a Los Angeles oil man in 1920, according to Ballard's testimony before the senate oil committee today.

Ballard said Hamon told him that the deal was made by "some one" without Mr. Harding's knowing about it at the last republican national convention.

DYCUS BOOSTED FOR JUDGESHIP

Telegrams Sent Neff By Local Lawyers.

BEAUMONTERS SEEK JOB

Funeral Services For McDowell Today

That a move has already been started locally to seek the appointment of Judge A. W. Dycus to fill the unexpired term of the late Judge E. A. McDowell's bench in 60th district court was made known here this morning when Judge Dycus admitted to newspaper men he had been approached relative to the appointment, but "had nothing to say" regarding it.

It is understood authoritatively that a number of telegrams have been dispatched to Governor Pat M. Neff requesting the state's chief executive to appoint Judge Dycus to fill the vacancy in 60th district court caused by the death yesterday of Judge McDowell.

Several candidates for the office from Beaumont are also understood to be in the field.

COURT TO ADJOURN IF NO JUDGE NAMED

BEAUMONT, Texas, April 15.—If Governor Pat Neff does not appoint a judge here by Saturday noon, this term of court for the 60th district will adjourn. A successor to Judge E. A. McDowell who died Monday morning will be named by the governor.

There are a number of Beaumont attorneys making a bid for the office, but the Jefferson County Bar association has not endorsed any one man. It was believed that they might call a meeting, nominate a man for the office and ask Governor Neff to appoint him, but no such action has been taken. James Harrison and E. E. Easterling are mentioned as possible applicants for the office.

Extra Cost Due

It will cost Jefferson county several hundred dollars if a new judge is not appointed promptly. Judge McDowell was in the midst of his criminal docket when he died. There have been 1,500 jurors summoned for service during the present term, a number of special veniremen called for murder hearings. If the term ends without another judge being sworn in, additional jurors will have to be sworn in, and all the work done by the sheriff's department will have been for nothing.

Funeral services for the late jurist were held this afternoon at 2 o'clock this afternoon from an undertaking parlor in that city, following shipment there last night, of the remains of Judge McDowell.

Palbearers Named

Short services were held here last night at the judge's late residence, Rev. Frank Rhea, rector of St. Mark's Episcopal church officiating.

Palbearers will be as follows: Active: Judge M. S. Duffie, W. E. Orgain, Steve King, O. B. Sawyer, W. S. Davidson, James Harrison, W. P. H. McFarlin, Lee Perriman, John O. Banks and Judge S. P. Sadler of Dallas. Honorary: John Brooks, Dr. H. B. Pedigo, Rush, Norvell, Chas. Stroock, Will Blain, James Blain, Joe Cottam, Dr. Will Wil-watched today particularly those of a hardwood mill for in the small chunks of wood which are deposited by the conveyor belts on the burning pits, many useful articles have been discovered. Smaller planing mills have sprung up near the larger ones.

Gradually the lumbering industry in these parts is getting to be as thorough as the packing industry in other places where only the grunt and squeal go away from the butchers.

There is still much room for further exploitation of the country's lumbering resources in the district by the Duff line. Wood pulp mills might be constructed to take care of the offal of the soft wood mills.

"It might be constructed" are the words, for as long as the present rail-road facilities are all that can be looked for, it would be folly to attempt to interest paper mill capital in such projects. Given adequate transportation facilities, a different story might be written in the next half decade in Eastern Texas.

HOTEL BEAUMONT CASES ON TRIAL

Estes Refuses to Quash Federal Indictments

Special to The News.—BEAUMONT, Texas, April 15.—Judge W. L. Estes overruled a motion presented here Tuesday morning in federal court to quash the indictment charging liquor violations against former employees of the Hotel Beaumont.

The case, which has attracted wide attention, was continued from the last term of federal court.

A sweeping denial of every charge on the liquor violations was made by Bob Cronkite, former assistant manager, William Willenberg and George Grant, assistant district attorney, S. H. Bennett tried to have the hotel closed, alleging that it was a public nuisance, but this motion was overruled.

Attorneys Steve King and Fletcher Jones presented the hotel employees. King alleged this morning when he tried to have the indictment quashed that the allegations were vague, indefinite and uncertain. Both attorneys for the United States and for the defendants referred to law books during the proceedings and Judge Estes asked for opinions on several occasions.

There is little doubt but that the case will be one of the hardest fought in federal court.

The case was started Friday and was heard all the way through Griggs' aged father sat with him during the hearing, and he held his small son on his lap while he listened to the charges being made against him. Attorneys Ask About Unusual Sex Interest

PHILADELPHIA, April 15.—Evelyn Nesbit and Harry K. Thaw faced each other across the counsel tables at the latter's trial for his sanity today.

Not by so much as a movement of his features did the millionaire who is seeking his release from "Kirkbride's" acknowledge presence of the woman who came to oppose that release.

Her Eyes Downcast

As for Evelyn, she sat with downcast eyes paying no attention to her former husband but listening intently while her counsel questioned an alienist regarding Thaw's strange performance. In the years since he married her and killed Stanford White for her sake.

Attorney Dickson asked Dr. Mills, alienist, if he did not consider Thaw's answers to certain questions showed undue interest in sex matters.

Thinks Thaw Safe

Dr. Mills testified he did not think so and that he considered Thaw normal. The rabbits which featured yesterday's afternoon session were again the subject. A hospital record telling of Thaw's interest in his rabbit pets and their mating, was read.

Dickson also quoted from a record taken at "Kirkbride's" where Thaw has been incarcerated for several years telling of an attendant finding Thaw in his bedroom one morning, nude, with a rabbit on each shoulder.

Thaw was forbidden to take the rabbits to his room after this.

Harry's interest in young girls while on walks with hospital attendants was also described in the record.

Dr. Mills was asked about these

SAN ANTONIO IS AGAINST MERGER

Discriminatory Rates to Rio Grande Valley Charge

AUSTIN, April 15.—"San Antonio has lost a million dollars of business in the Rio Grande Valley during the last ten years because of the policy of the Gulf Coast Lines," testified C. B. Yandell, general manager San Antonio Chamber of Commerce, before the Gulf Coast-Intercoastal Great Northern merger hearing today.

1914 Shipments

Other testimony was given that the Gulf Coast Lines have delayed San Antonio shipments to the valley while Houston has enjoyed an increase in business until it has sixty per cent of the valley trade, San Antonio twenty per cent and the other twenty per cent scattered.

Testimony was given by Yandell that the merger "would be extremely disastrous to southeast Texas, prove repressive and tend to restrain rather than help our section of the state in manufacturing and commercial development. It would injure manufacturing and jobbing interests which have built up trade channels extending over a long period of effort. It would prove discriminatory and disastrous to southwest Texas, the Rio Grande valley and San Antonio, the largest city in Texas."

San Antonio Excluded
Allegations were made that the Gulf Coast Lines have fixed rate bases that excluded San Antonio from its own territory as it is closest to the valley and enabled its competitors to get the business.

With the exception of Brownsville, all the valley opposed the merger.

Used Kellogg's Bran 2 months—constipation gone after suffering 3 years

Three years of suffering with constipation. What happiness was his when Kellogg's Bran, cooked and branched, restored his health. But read his letter.

"Dear Sir:—This is what I think of your branmed bran. I would not be without it for anything in the world. For three years I used all kinds of medicines for constipation, and only got temporary relief. I was advised by a doctor to use Kellogg's Bran, and since I began using it I don't have to take pills or anything else. I have used it two months, and my constipation has left me. I feel better now than I have for three years."

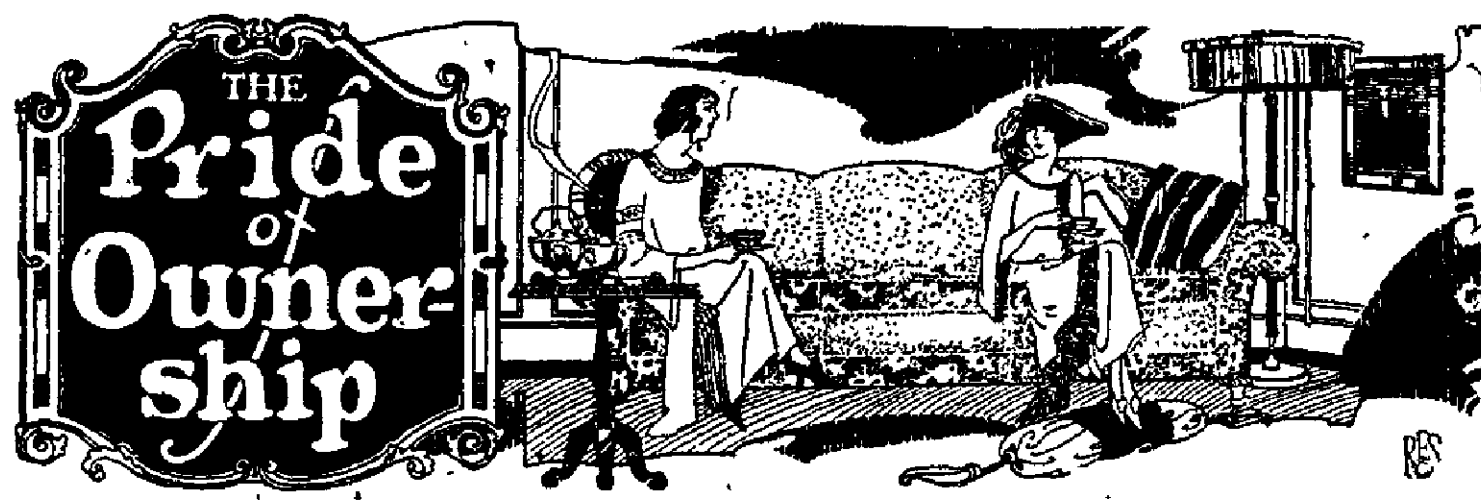

(The original of this letter is on file at the Kellogg Company, Battle Creek, Mich.)

Kellogg's Bran brings results because it is ALL bran. You can't fight constipation with halfway measure—with bran which are only part bran. It takes ALL bran to be 100 per cent effective.

Because Kellogg's Bran is ALL bran it creeps, cleans and purifies the intestine. It acts naturally—just as nature acts. It stimulates the intestine and makes it function regularly. It is guaranteed to bring results, or your grocer will refund your money.

Kellogg's Bran has a delicious nut-like flavor. Quite different from ordinary, unpalatable bran. You will like it as a cereal, sprinkled on other cereals, cooked with hot cereals, or in the recipes given on every package. Eat two tablespoonsful of Kellogg's Bran every day—in chronic cases, with every meal. Made in Battle Creek, Sold by all grocers.

Among the arrivals today was the British steamship Treacrell to the Union Sulphur company, at Sabine. The ship is fumigating early today and after loading out a part cargo of sulphur at Sabine, will sail for ports in Australia.

The British cargo steamer, Norwich City, finished loading here Monday and sailed late in the afternoon for Australia, via New York for additional cargo, according to word from Fay Morgan, Port Arthur representative of the John E. Jones company, agents for the Norwich City.

Vessels expected to arrive today included the tankers Liss and Arminio, both to load out at the Gulf Refining company's terminals. Pimples Cause

Despondency

Girls and boys, too, who are subject to disfiguring skin blemishes imagine all sorts of weird things. It even causes many to go to extremes in their ritual treatment.

The worst fault it leads to is using just anything which promises relief from their condition, which often makes their trouble worse. Never put anything on your skin which has not been proven by the test of time and public opinion to be right. In this connection the phenomenal success of the ointment is labeled with the Black and White trade mark of highest quality at low, popular prices, offers sufferers from skin diseases the one reliable and dependable means of relief and restoration of their skin to that clear, smooth and lovely condition it was in their youth.

Black and White Ointment is economically priced, in liberal size packages. The 50c size contains three times as much as the 25c size. All dealers have it.—Adv.

Peoples: "Boy of Mine" starring Ben Alexander.
Pearce: "Lilies of the Valley," featuring Corinne Griffith.
Strand: "The Grubstake," with Nell Shipman starred.
Liberty: Montague Love and Olive Tell in "The Wrong Woman."
Green: "Tiger Rose."

"THE WRONG WOMAN"
Fran Abramson's production "The Wrong Woman," to be shown at the Liberty theatre tomorrow represents one of the master plots evolved after twenty-five years of experience in writing and producing. Mr. Abramson as author, director and producer is an old and skilled master in play production and has evolved an absorbing plot which reaches a powerful climax. Evolved about the series of circumstances which makes an unsuspecting girl "The Wrong Woman."

The story demonstrates a human emotion true to life, in which innocent people are made the victim of another's weakness. Many of us have known the sorrow of being made the victim of events, all have felt the false accusations made by others. The story therefore, has a very human appeal to all of us.

"Lilies of the Field," is now playing at the Pearce theatre co-starring Corinne Griffith and Conway Tearle, supported by Sylvia Brainer, Myrtle Sedman, Alma Bennett, Crawford Kent, Charles Murray, Phyllis Haver, Cissy Fitzgerald, Edith Ransom and Charles Gerrard. All of these names are familiar to you, and we believe you will agree with us that they represent a cast of unusual excellence.

"Lilies of the Field" was adapted from the stage success by William Hurlbut, and was directed by John Francis Dillon, who made "Flaming Youth."

"Lilies of the Field" is the life story of a beautiful young wife who, naturally hearing mistreatment at the hands of her husband, is deserted by candlepower.

him and robbed her child. Unable to find them, she resigns herself to her fate and tries to untangle the snarled skein of life. A great love comes into her life, just as she is being sucked into the whirlpool of forgetful gaiety, and through this love the happiness she has lost is restored to her.

STIRRING PLOT IN "TIGER ROSE"

"You think I'll shoot? You know well I'll shoot!"

These words, snapped out, shortly, sharply and decisively, came from the mouth of a woman. And the man knew that she meant what she said and the penalty of taking a life.

This is one of the tense, breath-taking scenes in "David Belasco's 'Tiger Rose,' which is now appearing at the Peoples Theatre. I could the officer risk the change of a shot and capture his man? He knew that he was hidden somewhere in the house. He also knew that the girl, named "Tiger Rose," would shoot, and shoot to kill.

The entire picture is filled with scenes full of suspense, heart throbs and pathos, where your heart goes out to the poor, unfortunated girl, brought up in an environment of almost lawless freedom and absence of the usual restraints to the emotions that are raised around the existence of a community in the States.

This role is characterized by Lenore Ulrik, the Belasco star, who made such a tremendous success in the same role when "Tiger Rose" ran for two years on Broadway. Much realism and vividness was given to the original play in the screen version written by Edmund Goulding and Millard Webb.

NOW YOU CAN QUICKLY END KIDNEY TROUBLES

If you have backache or pulled muscles, swollen ankles or clammy hands, it's probably poison settled in your kidneys and the sooner you get rid of it, the further away from the grave you'll be.

Roots and herbs are best for this purpose, says Dr. Carey, for 30 years a practicing physician, well known.

If your kidneys are making your life miserable the best medicine is none too good out this notice, take it to Hart Drug Co. or any good druggist and see that you get Dr. Carey's Marshmallow Prescription 777.

It comes in both liquid and tablet form and the price is only 75 cents. Mail orders accepted.—Adv.

DALLAS DOGS MUST NOW HAVE CHAPERONES

DALLAS, Texas, April 15.—Dallas dogdom will soon undergo a social upheaval if a proposed ordinance is adopted. The proposed bill would require a chaperone for every lawfully pup in the city—a suggestion which has caused pampered poodles, pekings and other upstage aristocrats of the canine cosmos to sniff disparagingly.

Proud mistresses for example with sleekly groomed lap dogs on the end of leash leashes would feel mortified, at least, if every random crowd in the city was trotted around for its exercise under chaperonage of its owner, it has been argued.

But, that is the very reform Dallas city fathers are proposing and social distinctions in dogdom are said to be literally doomed for the howl-woes.

BLIND GIRLS' SCHOOL FUND DISCONTINUED

DALLAS, Texas, April 15.—Dallas charity will no longer contribute to the Golden Rule Alliance "Home for Blind Girls" in New York. Contributions have been maintained throughout the city by the "Golden Rule" concern did a flourishing business until they were ordered removed by Mrs. Albert Walker, welfare director.

"It may have looked good to the Golden Rule Alliance but we could not see it," said Mrs. Walker. "We discovered there was no such home for blind girls."

GENEVA, April 15.—Aerial routes in Europe have now reached a degree of development where international aerial trusts and aerial unions are necessary in order to line up the various routes of each country into great international and trans-continental systems.

The latest of these trusts to be launched is the Union Trans-Air-urope. It consists of a combine of the various airlines operating in Europe, which were already grouped into a national trust, known as the "AD Astra," with three German companies, one Austrian and one Hungarian.

The combine will launch an international service for the benefit of tourists this summer, which will not only assure them of the latest technical development and material possible in aerial transportation, but will also eliminate all the disadvantages of duplication of service.

The combine announces regular routes this summer over the following routes:
Geneva—Zurich—Munich—Munich—Vienna—Budapest—Zurich and Budapest.
Munich and Frankfurt, via Nuremberg.
Holland—Brussels—Strasbourg—Basle.
London—Paris—Basle—Zurich.
At the terminal station of each line connections will be made for the other lines that have the same terminal station.

WOMAN PLEADS GUILTY; 1 YEAR

Forged Schwab's Name, She Admits

CHICAGO, April 15.—Three-fourths of the women do their railroad traveling by daylight. This is the conclusion of John Maloney, general passenger agent of the Walcott railroad, who has just completed a survey of passenger transportation. Maloney states that on Walcott trains from Chicago to St. Louis only 15 per cent of the passengers at night are women, and that in the day-time 70 per cent are women.

The feminine preference has been shown to a marked degree in recent months, Maloney said. He pointed out that not so long ago approximately 50 per cent of the night travelers were women. The shift of the women from night to day-time travel is attributed to the extra conveniences now afforded by day travel.

The men travel at night as before. They use their sleeping hours for travel and reserve their waking hours for work.

INVESTIGATE CAUSE FOR FATAL CRASH

DANVILLE, Ill., April 15.—Two investigations were started today after an early morning auto collision on road crossing crash here last night in which Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wilson and four of their children were killed. The automobile was struck by a freight train on the Walcott Railroad Crossing at West Lebanon, Indiana.

HOLLYWOOD, April 15.—The actress-taps a psychic font of youth—perhaps the only source of perpetual youth.

"Taps it constantly for her own refreshment because, vicariously at least, she lives the lives of many women, the whole rich gamut of her sex, as part of her profession."

Thus Kate Lester, patrician and strikingly handsome grade dame of motion pictures, explains the fact that stage women as a rule retain, as she has, the charm and resiliency of youth far beyond women in more prosaic walks of life.

"She passed sixty," a "long-time ago," she says. But she preserves to marked degree that distinction which accented her a beauty when she made her stage debut 34 years ago as the daughter of a long line of English aristocrats.

"The actress," she resumed, "must of necessity simulate emotionally the lives of many women if she is to make her repertoire convincing. And simulation has almost the energizing reaction of reality, if sustained or repeated."

"With each new character portrayed, she gets a recharge of vitality."

She avoids monotony, the conventional channels of thought into which so many women fall, once their life has been stabilized by maturity. Monotony dulls and decays. It is a trick of Father Time to reap early.

"New sensations, surprises, soul venturings, provoking the ardors of life, keeping the silt out of its well-springs—these, even if only imagined, give the actress alert, keep the sincere actress alert. Her emotional fires keep the clinkers burned out."

"Real beauty is soul deep, not skin deep as foolish cynics maintain."

It comes from thinking "rather than feeling and massaging." "Of course stage women take infinite care of the physical self. But that woman knows little of her real self and its powers to preserve the soul and appearance of youthfulness who doesn't know that grooming of the spirit is more important than a facial operation or bobbed hair."

Kate Lester uses no artificial aids to her stately beauty. With her simple recipe of "exercise and thinking beautiful thoughts," she distracts attention in any Hollywood gathering from the self-conscious siren of 20 and the artificial ingenuities of 40.

Now under long-term contract with Goldwyn Studios, she played during her stage career with such artists as Richard Mansfield, William Crane, Julia Marlowe, Mrs. Fisk and John Drew.

Here's What to Eat and—

LOSE WEIGHT GAIN WEIGHT

One-half cup stewed rhubarb, 1 slice crisp boiled bacon, 2 waffles, 4 tablespoons maple syrup, 2 waffles, uncooked cereal, 1 cup cream of potato soup, 1 cup diet salad with 2 tablespoons French dressing, 1 cup hot-pot of spring lamb with 1 whole large potato, 1 cup creamed green peas, 2 tablespoons mashed turnip with 1 tablespoon butter, 1 cup cream and dandelion salad with 2 tablespoons French dressing, 4 tablespoons French dressing, 4 tablespoons chocolate bread pudding with 2 tablespoons whipped cream, 1-6 date whipped cream pie, 2 slices graham bread with raisins and nuts, 2 peanut butter sandwiches, 2 hard rolls, 2 tablespoons grape preserves, 4 tablespoons butter, 1 pint whole milk, 2 teaspoons sugar, 1-4 cup cream.

Total calories, 4085. Protein, 475, fat, 1304; carbohydrate, 1288, Iron, .0183 gram.

The peanut butter sandwiches are suggested as an accompaniment for the soup. The combination is very good. Rye or whole wheat bread can be used.

The crisp and dandelion salad is made with equal parts of tender dandelion leaves mixed an crisp. Combine the greens with French dressing and mix well. All the ingredients should be well chilled before combining.

The chocolate bread pudding contains eggs, rich milk and grated chocolate as well as bread and sugar. The chocolate is preferred to cocoa as it is richer in fat. The yolks of eggs only can be used and were used in this calculation of calories.

TIDE OF TRAVEL TURNS TO WEST

National Parks Luring Many Thousands to Roads

By HARRY W. FRANTZ
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON, April 15.—The Yellowstone hold-up bears will get their fill of hot chocolate this summer if one can believe the predictions of travel experts about the rising of western travel. And for that matter, every good Indian, or bad, in the wild west seems likely to come within camera shot of a hundred or more automobile apysies.

Every since the late President Harding fed the bear cub Max at Lake Yellowstone, tourists have been inspired to go and do likewise. In the city of Philadelphia alone there are about 100,000 automobiles, and looking for the land of gyres, railway and highway bureau report record inquiries regarding the western national parks.

Poor Lo, or to be more exact, the Hopi and Navajo tribes of Indians, will lure a lot of travelers to the west, particularly to the Grand Canyon region. From El Torro, the new Navahovi road will be opened to Tuba City, a modern sample of the Navajo reservation, and to Moenkopi, a famous Hopi pueblo. This road opens a region hitherto almost unknown to white men, and affords not only intimate contact with Indian life, but also the spectacle of an extraordinary petrified forest.

Mount Rainier National park seems certain to receive a record number of visitors. This park has received its usual winter quota of free advertising in the Congressional Record, arising from the historic controversy as to whether the great peak should be properly called Mount Tacoma or Mount Rainier. A park patriot within congress introduced a resolution that the peak should be called Mount Rainier. There is now no indication that the signboards will be changed at any early date. The "Rainier" partisans still challenge the contention that "Tacoma" signified, to the Indians, "The Mountain That Was God."

Farmersville, Texas, April 15.—Farmersville, with its patches, is competing with Fort Worth and its stockyards for civic distinction. The Texas "packing town" has no self-sufficiency advantages when onions are brought into play, the farmers in this section claim.

Farmersville growers at the same breath announced they had just set the three-millionth Bermuda onion plant. The onion growers are planting 20,000 sets to the acre, and the yield averages 125 bushels each acre. One farmer alone laid out half million sets, and he lives on his own farm.

Some of the growers planted cotton and onions on the same tracts. It kept the boll weevil away, it was reported.

WOMEN OF MIDDLE AGE

Read How Mrs. Walsh Was Helped by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Mannington, W. Virginia.—"I took a Vegetable Compound when having the turn of life. I had been sick for seven years. I would get a little better, then I broke down again. It would be hard for me to describe how I was a perfect wreck. I suffered with a pain in my left side, then I would have hot flashes, then I would have cold flashes, then I would have weak spells. I was so weak I would think I couldn't ever get a meal ready. My work was a burden to me. I was not able to do my housework half of the time. A friend advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and it has given me strength and health. The hot flashes left me and I got better of the numb spells. That summer I could do my housework and worked in the garden a good bit. I tell all sick women what your wonderful medicine did for me, and will always recommend it. I am known to all my neighbors, and you can publish this statement because it is true."

Mrs. JOHN W. WALSH, R. No. 1, Box 36, Mannington, West Virginia.

LETTER FROM LESLIE PRES-COTT TO JOHN ALDEN PRES-COTT, CONTINUED

It seems to me dear, that I am never going to be able to finish this letter. Just as I was telling you what marriage meant to the usual woman, Mrs. Benton-Smith came in, and bored me for an hour with the description of her last major operation. She gave me a regular "organ renal." If ever a woman enjoyed poor health, it's this woman. I would pity her husband if I hadn't seen him lately with two or three very pretty girls, at different times, so I have come to the conclusion that he sidesteps as much of her company as possible.

The family are coming home. Mother cables they are sailing on the 15th, and oh, I shall be so glad to see them. I have missed them more than I can tell. Mr. Dad is so big and generous and splendid, and my mother is so understanding. I sometimes feel, however, that I don't know Alice very well. She was always a queer child.

You know I'm quite a little older than she; and I seem to understand her less than ever now—or rather I understand Karl Whitney less than ever, whom I thought I knew so well. They are going to be married, Karl and Alice, just as soon as possible after they return home. Do you remember Karl? You pretended to be quite jealous of him at the time of our wedding. I didn't tell you then, but I can tell you now that Karl had been my sweetheart ever since we could talk.

I would not have had nearly as splendid a girlfriend if dear old Karl had not always been around. Honestly, I think he's too good for Alice. Much as I love my sister, she is, I know, a kind of dominating sort of person, and I'm afraid Karl will be somewhat bulldozed.

"This sounds rather catty, doesn't it? But I don't mean it that way. But you know Alice and I are so very, very different. She always seemed to take it as a personal affront that I married you instead of Karl. She's a self-contained young person, and will always go her own way, and it seems to me that Karl is at his best when he has someone to protect—someone who depends upon him."

I've always looked upon Karl more as a brother than as a lover. When you come home, Jack dear, I shall have something to tell you—a secret which, ever since I have been married, I've wanted to confide to you, but I have been afraid to do so. Since, however, you have told me about Paul's Peter, and my sister is going to marry Karl, I hope you will understand the matter was nothing I could help.

By the way, I see Miss Perter has a new picture. I heard a queer comment on her the other day. Someone said they thought she would be a great actress after she had suffered. How would you explain that, Jack?

I'm glad you're coming home soon, notwithstanding all my big talk of not missing you. I am really rather lonely.

Love, LESLIE.

TOMORROW: Letter from Harry Ellington to Ruth Ellington

MOUSTON, April 15.—W. Russell Nix, a fitter who is being treated for knife wounds in the arm today, told a story of how he was attacked by a negro while parked on a suburban road here.

Nix said he was sitting in the car with a young lady friend when a negro stepped on the running board of the car. The negro drew a knife and slashed him, when Nix's "pans" failed to reach its mark.
